RESTORING THE DIVINE CIRCULATORY FLOW

Eternal life flows unconditionally from the heart of our sun to all of existence within our system. Its physical effects, heat and light, give sustenance to the myriad of forms upon our planet. Its higher correspondence nurtures the development of consciousness and the ability of every planet, planetary centre, kingdom and individual life to reveal its spiritual nature. In understanding the diastole and systole, the ebb and flow of divine energy into our planetary scheme, such as the periods of the full and the new moon, comes increasing responsibility to work with these available spiritual energies to restore the divine circulatory flow and to link the higher and the lower worlds.

The Ageless Wisdom teaches that the human family occupies a unique position pendant between the spiritual and the material. Humanity stands as a bridging kingdom, which will eventually convey the loving Purpose of God to all of the diverse life-forms that embody the lower levels of ‘embryonic’ consciousness, and consequently release them into a new cycle of spiritual unfoldment.

What, then, interrupts the divine flow of spiritual life throughout the planetary whole, emanating from the ‘Secret Place of the Most High’ down to the atomic matter of science? It is a lamentable, yet thought-provoking notion, that humanity is both the cause and the solution to this planetary dilemma. If humanity is to fulfil its destined role as an ‘outpost’ of the consciousness of God upon the planet, then one of the many prerequisites leading to this momentous development will be the flowering of right relationships.

In our Triangles work, we are offered a profound opportunity to act as a bridging group, as relaying points of energy, relating humanity to its divine Source. Each time we engage in our daily triangles, it is as if we complete a divine electrical circuit allowing the life and light of spiritual essence to connect with the human family, offsetting the resistance of materialism. And, in so doing, we help to raise the developing lives that constitute the animal, vegetable and mineral kingdoms. For they too have a profound purpose to fulfil for the good of the whole.

We all recognise that the maintenance of a healthy form requires the free flow of vital energy throughout all the organs of the body. So, correspondingly, too, the well-being of all life upon our small planet is dependent upon humanity awakening to its divine purpose, so that ultimately the “weight of the Will of God... may progress unimpeded from point to point, from sphere to sphere and from glory to glory.”

THE SACRED ART OF HEALING

As a network of individuals using the power of thought to help in the birthing of a culture of peace and right relations in the world, how might we approach issues of health and healing? What insights does our experience with the daily Triangles link give us into the sacred art of healing?

Triangles members come from a diversity of philosophical and faith backgrounds, so there will inevitably be a variety of views on the question. Yet there are some fundamentals that we would all agree on. Through our experience in the network, we all know something of the reality of a subtle, sacred dimension to our being, for we learn to see others increasingly in terms of their essence, visualising co-workers as points of radiant, lighted energy.

Most would agree that healing, in its truest and deepest sense, concerns the art of 'making whole' and bringing the sacred, timeless aspects of Self into right relations and balance with outer aspects of mind, emotion and body. We may also agree that healing will sometimes involve the death and dissolution of the body. Preserving the body at all costs ceases to be an objective in healing when the body (with its personality, its emotions and mind) is no longer seen as the beginning and end of Self.

Triangles provides perfect training, and gives us a natural sensitivity for healing work. After all, we are working with the radiation of soul energies. And we are doing so as a group. We radiate light and goodwill through the mental and emotional environment, knowing that these vital energies will strengthen and nourish all that is of a similar vibration in the worlds of mind and heart. And we know too that these higher energies will facilitate healing crises in which mental and emotional blocks will be transmuted and resolved. This we do for humanity as a whole.

Our Triangles experience also helps us to work with the Love that we find within our soul – healing is essentially a radiation of Love. And there is something else, something more specific that we are learning. It is connected with the mystery of the triangle. Traditions that have mapped the subtle electrical fields of the body point to the significance of triangular flows between chakras or nodes in the restoration of balance, health and vitality. Energy healing requires knowledge of these triangular patterns. In many ways it is an extension, and a refined application, of the work we are doing in the network.

Through Triangles we are all participants in the sacred art of healing humanity and the planet.

The period is coming in which we will pass through a cycle in which we will garner the fruit of the ages; in which we will skim (if I may so express it) the cream off the milk of human experience; and then, with the best that the past can confer upon us, we will inaugurate those new enterprises which will speed humanity upon its way. Among these new enterprises the healing art will be the foremost, because the most necessary.

THE PLANETARY NETWORK

Darjeeling Goodwill Animal Shelter

The Darjeeling Goodwill Animal Shelter [DGAS] in Kalimpong, near Darjeeling, India is a centre for the healing and care of animals. The Shelter which started in 1997, was founded by Christine Townend together with a team of local trustees. The DGAS Trust “aims to promote awareness of the divine interconnectedness of humanity with the other kingdoms of nature”. Four trained staff work at the shelter alongside the, usually volunteer, veterinarians.

Situated amongst beautiful gardens in the rural area of Bong Busty, the Shelter “rescues suffering street animals, provides free or minimal cost treatment for local animals belonging to neighbouring villagers, and operates a dog sterilisation and vaccination programme to create a rabies-free environment and an acceptable street dog population in accordance with World Health Organisation guidelines.” Since 1997 rabies has been virtually eliminated from Kalimpong town. The Shelter also runs anti-rabies vaccination programmes for dogs in Darjeeling.

“A very simple multi-faith shrine room” will soon be constructed at the Shelter.

International Network of Esoteric Healing

The International Network of Esoteric Healing [INEH] is a group dedicated to the practise and study of Esoteric Healing.

INEH grew out of the work of a small team of spiritual healers in the mid-1960's led by Rex Riant, a pioneer radar scientist.

Amongst its objectives the network aims:

- to facilitate Esoteric Healing;
- to help anchor spiritual science in human consciousness;
- to encourage group work on inner and outer levels;

• to provide seminars and practical training in the principles of Esoteric Healing in the subtle energy field and its integration into everyday life.

THE ETHERIC

Several decades ago, Alice Bailey, writing about the etheric body, suggested that: “Life itself, the training to be given in the future, the conclusions of science and a new mode of civilisation will all increasingly be focused on this unique substance which is the true form to which all physical bodies in every kingdom in nature conform.”

Each form in every kingdom in nature is interrelated through the planetary etheric body, which itself is an integral part of the etheric nature of our solar system, and this vast body in turn is part of the cosmic etheric that pervades the entire manifested universe. Through this supreme medium flow the multiplicity of energies that condition all lives – cosmic, solar, planetary and human. All is “kept in shape and livingness” by the potent inflow and outflow of energy through the etheric, which has been described as the vital link relating consciousness to form. Such is the interconnectedness and pattern of life.

We are all familiar with the statement: “Energy follows or conforms itself to thought”. Our aspiration or desire, our refinement or coarseness of thought, and our life focus all determine the type of energies that we attract and that flow through the etheric vehicle, and therefore condition our lives upon the physical plane, and the way we interact with others. Our life expression is essentially a result of the way we wield energy, consciously or unconsciously. The purer the energies circulating throughout the etheric, the more sensitive to spiritual impression the outer form becomes, through the agency of the physical brain, attuned to the informing purpose of the inner, spiritual life. And the more closely the dense physical is interwoven with the etheric level, the greater is the propensity for energy to flow unimpeded from the inner causal levels to the outer form. In this context, we can see the significance of the Triangles work, which acts as a scientific spiritual technique to magnetically charge the network with the abundant spiritual resources of light and love, which radiate out into the world of human living.

Perhaps, in not too many years time, the vision that Alice Bailey alluded to will begin to become a factual realisation in the consciousness of humanity. Then, the way we work with light, colour and sound for the welfare of the human and the lower kingdoms will herald the dawn of a new era, of an age of enlightened scientific discovery. In our own way too, our work in using the power of lighted thought and the medium of the etheric to ‘alchemise’ matter is pioneering and visionary in its scope.

Triangles is a world service activity in which people link in thought in groups of three to create a planetary network of triangles of light and goodwill. Using a world prayer, the Great Invocation, they invoke light and love as a service to humanity. Further information is available on request from Triangles.

The Triangles Bulletin is for men and women of goodwill and is published four times a year in Danish, Dutch, English, French, German, Greek, Italian, Polish, Portuguese, Russian, Spanish and Swedish. Triangles is an activity of the Lucis Trust, a non-profit educational charity which exists to promote right human relations.
