

A TIME OF MOBILIZATION

We work together today at a special period within the annual cycle. Each month at the time of the full moon, potent energies are released into the etheric network surrounding the planet—the network that Triangles partners visualize. Each full moon period consists of the two days preceding the full moon (days of preparation), the day of safeguarding (the sacred day of the full moon), followed by two days wherein the contacted energies are distributed as a form of service to all humanity. Today we are working within the second day of distribution of the Aries full moon period. Aries is one of the three signs of the higher interlude of the spiritual year – the most potent time spiritually within the annual cycle, a time when great and overshadowing forces play through the constellations evoking response from all open hearts and minds. Aries is a sign of potent strength and purpose and through it pour what are known as the Forces of Restoration that are said to act as a type of psychological as well as a physical cleansing and renewal for all humanity. These energies bring vitality, the sense of livingness, a joy that we see paralleled in the tremendous awakening we witness each year at this time as the natural world springs to life in the northern hemisphere.

This is a time that favors new beginnings under the rush of life itself. The powerful inpouring forces in Aries are under the dominion of a great and living Spiritual Entity or Being, known as the Spirit of Resurrection, who at this time works through or overshadows the World Teacher, the living Christ, Who directs and focuses the inpouring energies that enter into our system from distant sources, distant stars and informing constellations such as, in the case of Aries, one of the stars known as the Pointers within the constellation of the Great Bear—an energy related to the synthetic aspect of the first ray of will or power. This synthetic first ray quality that pours into our system as streams of light, is so needed at this time in order to bring together and strike a balance between the warring forces and opposing points of view that are so prevalent at this time. This first ray energy breaks down barriers in our world –such as those that exist between the races, the sexes, the economic and religious divisions among people and nations and replaces it with an underlying recognition of a synthetic synthesis.

Triangles is a wonderful tool for working with these powerful energies, giving them direction and purpose, stepping them down through our consciousness, adapting them so that those people whose minds and hearts are open and receptive can respond to them more readily with less intensity and consequently more safety. This ability to work more effectively as well as more potently with the inpouring energies is a task and opportunity that we will come to develop in the coming cycle of the ages governed by Aquarius. Aquarius is, after all, related to the science of cycles and through this influence humanity will come to understand more fully how to so work.

Triangles aids in transforming human consciousness, preparing humanity for the coming externalization of the Hierarchy, the timing of which is not known but which depends upon humanity's ability to prepare the way. Triangles is a powerful tool aiding in this preparedness. And when this transition period is over and the Hierarchy is effectively controlling events upon the physical plane, the Triangles work will begin to take on even greater momentum for surely many more people will be part of it. Under the externalized direction of the World Teacher the sense of the reality of the network will be more apparent, more real than it is today. But until that time of outer recognition, we who work rather blindly after all, must cultivate the underlying qualities of that ancient Sanskrit term Shradda, which is defined as faith. It is that faith that St. Paul defined as “the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.” Triangles workers need this shradda, this faith, this positive spirit of expectancy, in order to make the fullest contribution we can in our work together each day. This faith in the ultimate triumph of the good, which is assured, is needed to overcome the astral and lower mental plane obstructions and obfuscations that can, if allowed to color our consciousness unduly, impede our ability to work effectively and sustain our enthusiasm over the long haul. The cultivation of shradda will lead eventually to the ability to summon the will to surmount these obstacles and unite with the currents of the group soul and consequently become better able to serve as a group unit for that is what Triangles is, it is a global group of individuals who are mobilized around the specific purpose of letting in the light of the world soul and releasing it through the network of light.

The new and incoming energies on the planetary scene to which increasing numbers of humanity are particularly geared is this quality of mobilization--that’s clear for all to see. To “mobilize” is defined as to put into movement or circulation or to release (something stored in the organism). It is also defined as to assemble and make ready for war duty or to marshal (something, such as resources) for action. Mobilization is, therefore, the effort to take what is readily available and set it into motion, giving it life and direction. It is generally associated with groups of people, as if the underlying qualifying energy is bigger than the efforts of one individual and inside is geared towards galvanizing larger wholes.

At this time in planetary history humanity is being subjected, for the first time, to a powerful influx of first ray energy -- both during this month within this minor cycle when the sun is in the sign of Aries but also and more broadly and importantly within this whole planetary cycle. First ray energies have been given a real boost at three points—at the close of World War II, in 1975 and then again in the year 2000. These impacts will take many years, in fact many centuries, for the full effects to work out but one can sense an increase in responsiveness to this energy working out at this time. This first ray influence is being aided by the more established influx of energy from the seventh ray, an influx that began in 1675. We have, therefore, nearly passed through 350 years of a building up of this particular energy, which combines exceedingly well with the energy of the first ray. The first ray energy of the will, along with the energy of the organizational/mobilizational qualities of the seventh ray, is a powerful combination, accelerating humanity’s responsiveness and ability to ground the will in more fluid forms that are having a transformative effect. Those who have long worked to foment material desire have always been quite organized upon the material plane, working to stimulate the more material aspect of human desire. They respond as well to this inpouring will energy and it serves to strengthen their resolve to realize their materially oriented purposes. But now that humanity is becoming more responsive to etheric substance, the more refined aspects of the physical plane through which the light and goodwill flow, this organizational capacity, colored by the light of the soul, is stimulating those who respond to hierarchical intention to work to bring forth the soul's agenda. In other words, those who are responding to the higher, synthetic aspects of the first ray/seventh ray combination are catching up and demonstrating their effectiveness in working within the physical-etheric planes, which in the parlance of the ageless wisdom would be "within the veils of maya."

New ray energies always bring into incarnation those souls who resonate with those energies, as well as creating those conditions which accelerate the passing out of those souls who are governed by the ray energy that is passing out, in this case, the sixth ray of devotion. So now the seventh ray souls are in the ascendancy and with the advent of the new technologies--a very seventh ray tool--the stage is set for a great mobilization of effort which is needed to prepare human consciousness for that which is on the horizon, on the verge of precipitation. The speed of these mobilization efforts, of what is possible, was clearly demonstrated by last week's March for Our Lives, wherein hundreds of thousands of people around the globe were organized in less than three weeks by a few young people using mobile phones. As one commentator noted, these young people do not understand the concept of "no," of limitation, of taking time to make things happen. In their view, they have waited for too long with little effect. The forces of light will find powerful inlets when such efforts are also turned towards a mobilization of the use of such tools as the Great Invocation, the full moon interludes and Triangles--and that day will come, is coming. Many of the changes in our world today, changes that are precipitating rapidly, are the result of these seventh ray souls and the changes they came in to manifest in the world. To them is given the task of creating new and more pliable forms--forms to house the new light. The seventh ray worker anchors the will for it is the place where "the highest and lowest meet."
