

Triangles intro – Monday, 10th February 2025

Christine Morgan

Welcome everyone to this second triangles webinar of the year. For those of us in the northern hemisphere our spirits are no doubt being lifted as we move gradually into greater light as the days lengthen. Perhaps more significantly we are conscious of preparing for the time when the Divine Vision encompassed in three spiritual festivals - of Easter, Wesak and of the Christ - are celebrated during the higher interlude of the spiritual year. But today we are also conscious of working in the energies of Aquarius, a sign which celebrates “the waters of life”, and an Age into which we are entering more fully with each passing year. And we are seeing the flourishing forces of group service and soul alignment clashing with the waning influences of the Piscean era. These conflicting forces continue to have their effects on the world stage and often mirror our own inner conflicts.

The increasing Aquarian influences empower group service and every triangle of light created and vitalised, therefore, strengthens the Triangles network. Each triangle is playing a part in heralding a reformation of the energy or etheric structure of our planet, and with this, the deep purpose of this simple service is slowly unfolding. It's a privilege to play a small part in reforming the etheric architecture of the planet, enabling the energies of light and goodwill to flow more freely into human consciousness.

So, if anyone would like to expand their triangle service to form another, or wish to be part of a triangle for the first time please do let us know via the chat box leaving your name and we will follow up with you. Given the importance of this year 2025, when a Hierarchical conclave is said to meet as it does at the end of every quarter of a century, to plan for the future, its good to dedicate ourselves to this service with renewed enthusiasm. Let's take a moment and say together the Noontime Recollection:

We know O Lord of Life and Love
About the Need
Touch our Hearts Anew with Love
That we too may Love and Give.

We've been given a beautiful description of the etheric or ether as that which "makes all relationships possible". It therefore relates the individual to the planet, to the solar system and to the universe. Every form participates as vast streams of energy constantly circulate throughout this universal energy field. These streams of energy galvanise the physical plane into activity of some kind or another, according to the nature and power of whatever type of energy may be dominating the etheric body at any particular time.

Whilst the universal ramifications of this vast energy field are beyond our understanding, humanity, nonetheless, has a profound role to play in transforming the planetary etheric into a lighted network of triangles circulating the pure energy of Love. Over time, we can be assured that this triangular matrix will become more closely woven into the fabric of the physical world, meaning that humanity as a whole will become increasingly responsive to spiritual impressions.

Its fair to say that the proliferation of communication technologies is one indication that the physical and etheric planes which underlie it, are becoming more closely interrelated. These technologies enable people to communicate with each other freely in real time and are probably the precursors to the roles that telepathy and the intuition will play as the consciousness of humanity unfolds. Simplicity in a spiritual sense and freedom from the complexities of the lower mind will one day become the norm when we move into an era where right values are developed.

When we look at the world today, the outer form is still largely unable to convey the beauty and purity of the Aquarian impulse. Spiritual philosophy reminds us that “all forms exist in order to express truth”. The projection of light and goodwill when fused and blended with the Triangles network, are signs of transformative energies which are impressing minds with the visionary and noble ideas that are instrumental in shaping “the new heaven and the new earth”.

A pattern of right relationships between that which lies above, and that which is below, is strengthening, signalling the formation of a bridge between the inner and outer worlds.

The discovery, or acknowledgement of the existence of the etheric planes is needed both for medical science as we will hear from our speaker this evening, Dermot Carroll, but also for cosmology. Unfortunately at the time of Einstein’s work on relativity he discarded the ether as a mechanism for transmitting energy. Later on he regretted this decision and it is this recognition which is essential, not only for understanding the science behind our creative work with Light, but to understand the science of relationships and the many anomalies which continue to puzzle those astronomers who are finding inconsistencies in their theories as a result of findings revealed by the James Webb telescope. For instance, discovering galaxies, that according to conventional theory, are older than the universe itself. Clearly new perspectives are needed in order to make a breakthrough into these subtler realms and herald a new era in the use of energy, magnetism and radiation for the benefit of the whole.

In this preparatory time of holding our consciousness still and aligned and sensitive to Divine vision and its accompanying energies, it's possible to enhance our daily rhythms and rituals of sounding the Great Invocation and directing light to fuse and blend with the light found in the consciousness of responsive human beings.

The year has begun and continued in a flurry of unexpected events, opinions are loudly sounded as to the state of the world, as people of goodwill strive to stand together in spiritual being despite of it all. Within all the sound bites, broadcasts and podcasts, there is often a longing to reorient the registration of impacts from the surrounding environment and its often emotional reactivity of the lesser voices of personalities to a gentle, determined "stilling" of the mind to receive higher impressions. Silence is the key to impression, directing attention away from the demands of the lower nature inward to the voice of the soul. This detachment, when accompanied by an inner listening, is soon accompanied by an opening of a door to higher realisation and reality.

This is the age of holistic vision. Due to the advances of science holism is not just a beautiful theory but we can see for ourselves our planet from space in all its profound beauty. As consciousness expands so does our understanding of life in the Universe which, according to science, is "far more complex and coherent than anyone other than poets and mystics have dared to imagine."

Our vision is expanding to reveal that which was previously hidden, especially true at this time.
