

TRIANGLE WEBINAR October 15th, 2018
HEALING—Making Whole through Sacred Triangles.

One of the major and fundamental patterns and relationships inspiring and conditioning activities in the world and on the planet is the Triangle of relationships between and within energies and forces.

From the great, basic and progressive triangle of Shambala, Hierarchy and humanity, through the (a)triangle of the Christ at the heart of hierarchy and Sanat Kumara at the heart of Shamballa, (b) the triangle of the three Buddhas of activity in Shamballa linked with the three departmental Beings in Hierarchy and (c) the function of the “linking groups“, the Nirmanakayas, the divine contemplatives between Shambala and Hierarchy and the new group of world servers between Hierarchy and humanity, and further down the planes, reflected through the three distributing agent – the right eye, the throat center and the hands (TWM, pp 251-53) of the increasingly group conscious disciples in the three world of human endeavor —all is some triangle of activity and relationship.

The same great patterns of triangles also underlie that vast and consciousness expanding science of Esoteric astrology, and the relatively, new and growing science of Esoteric healing. In Esoteric Healing is found the application of a great triangle of relationship: That between the Soul, radiatory and magnetic techniques of healing.

We may say that as we build the triangles of radiant light and goodwill, we are responding to the Sound, very faintly perhaps, from monadic sources through the spiritual Triad which we truly are in essence. Here again we faced with a profound integrating and therefor healing triangle of relationship. Could the Spiritual Triad be a distant source of inspiration in our triangle activity—a significant aspect of this seemingly simple work.

In all of these activities the unifying theme is relationships,— the burning fire which is essential love—the consciousness of God—that through which the above and below are approximated according to the purpose of the one life and the work we are doing in the triangles work, decades after decades all go into the accelerating the achievement of this great right relationships and this is what constitutes Healing—the right relationships which is the effective ordering of things below and things above, the impelling of directing energies dispelling, dissipating and dispersing the illusion, glamour and mania respectively so that the triadal energies of atma, buddhi and manas are substituted for the substance of the lower threefold worlds and then all that is fragmented are made whole.

Love, the consciousness of Divinity is inherently whole. The inherent light of wholeness evokes the recognition of separateness, divisions, fragmentations and discord and this recognition engenders those processes that then lead to healing.

Today this twin activity of wholeness is instigating a harmony through conflict in every aspect of life -- in politics, economics, trade, international relations, education, health "state of social insecurity", the realm of the three lower kingdoms-- animals, plants and minerals and the environment.

We must seek this wholesome attitude and qualify the creative techniques of triangles with a sense of the whole, for the significant point/idea is this: That, it is the quality of wholeness which is truly the essence of the sacred. And when we qualify the creative triangles, being built, with the sense of wholeness the radiant triangles and our creative endeavors become sacred.

So today, On this 15th of October 2018, the question may be asked that how are we all confronted by wholeness? in other words, how are we understanding and working with wholeness in our triangles work?

Among the many ways of approach is the response to the call for steadfast stewardship of the earth and all that therein, which consists in establishing right relationships (healing) with, and between Shamballa, Hierarchy and humanity by simultaneously relating responsibly to/with the three lower kingdoms—the animal, plant and mineral kingdoms, so that "Thy will be done on Earth...". Thus do we heal the planet through the sacred triangles of radiant light.
