From the Unreal to the Real

Discerning Truth in Our Times

A day of talks, meditation and discussion on how we may discern some of the deeper truths which underpin the human condition and our spiritual evolution in this turbulent world period.

The Mirror of the World: The Spiritual Quest of the Journalist Christopher Schwartz

Christopher Schwartz is an American researcher and journalist. He is currently conducting doctoral research at KU Leuven's Institute of Philosophy, while instructing at the American University of Central Asia in Kyrgyzstan, where he also works as a journalist. A member of the Bahá'í Faith, one of his intellectual interests is understanding Bahá'u'lláh's conception of journalism as "the mirror of the world".

The Revelation of Meaning: Meditation and Higher Education Prof. Dr. Andreas de Bruin

Andreas de Bruin of the University of Applied Sciences, Munich, founded the Munich Modell "Meditation at University" in 2010. He is now teaching meditation classes in nine fields of study at four faculties. Recently he has started a new project, "meditation and art". Andreas will be discussing the seminar theme in relation to higher education.

Developing discernment by processing our biography Deborah Ravetz

Deborah Ravetz is an artist, philosopher and author.

Using John Keats ideas on negative capability and Joseph Beuys' enlarged form of art, Social Sculpture, Deborah will explore the place of transformation that emerges when we dare to embrace doubt and anxiety. These important and valid parts of our experience can lead to wisdom and discernment and to the seat of joy.
